PLACE OF EMPLOYMENT: Retired in 2020 as reporter for American Shipper. I have also worked as an entomology technician.

REASONS FOR INTEREST IN APPOINTMENT:

I was a journalist since the mid 1970s for several of publications, mostly covering shipping and other industries. I worked as a laboratory technician in the Entomology Department of Rutgers University from 2003 to 2006 while earning a biology degree. I took quite a number of entomology courses and the lab I worked in tested mosquitoes for resistance to pesticides as well as conducting basic research. I collected mosquitoes and reared their eggs into mosquito larvae, which were then tested for larvaicide resistance.
