1.1 Submitted 01/14/2025 12:26 PM (PST) Would you like a rooftop AC that runs on the lithium battery pack?

Vendor TechOps Specialty Vehicles LLC.

Question Would you like a rooftop AC that runs on the lithium battery pack?

Answer We would like to minimize the height on the roof for lower areas where the team may need to visit. It is still important that we have consistent reliable cooling for clients and families we will be transporting.

Vendor TechOps Specialty Vehicles LLC.

Question Will you be providing a fridge and microwave for the galley cabinets? If so, what are the make/model for dimensions. Where would these be located on the floorplan?

Answer Yes, we will provide a fridge and microwave. At this time, we have not decided on a specific make/model but will work with the selected vendor to ensure performance, safety, and reliability of the products. They will be in the 3rd row driver side between the driver and the sliding door.

Vendor TechOps Specialty Vehicles LLC.

Question Where is the glass partition with sliding door and lock? If to separate the interior would you accept a pocket door thats laminate?

Answer Behind the front cabin seats, as this will be a visible barrier to ensure safety for our responders that will be driving, passengers, and in some cases an additional person in the 3rd row seat. In good faith we would like branded products with a proven track record of reliability that have a history of sustainability. However, we understand that there are some generic or other products that are equal in performance, safety and reliability.

Vendor Chef Units, LLC

Question Hello, Do you require the vendor to be local? We are located in Houston, and would ship the vehicle(s) to our facility to complete the upfitting. Is this acceptable?

Answer We are ultimately looking for the best value and quality build for our program. Understanding that the shipping cost would be built into the overall cost we would be agreeable but would like to understand more about the mechanics of transporting and the lead time associated with the process.

We were working with Jorge Ibarra at Towne Ford, but he realized that you already have vans, and he cannot sub-contract. We have been working with them, other dealerships, and various government entities on these types of projects for over 35 years now.
